Jim WENHOLD

Head Coach
11th Season
at Maryland
Maryland '85

Jim Wenhold is in his 11th season as the head coach of both the men's and women's swimming teams at the University of Maryland. During his decade with the Terrapins, both teams have climbed up the ranks of the ACC.

The all-time winningest women's coach in school history, Wenhold has transformed the Terps into one of the nation's top programs. The women ranked as high as 15th in the CSCAA (Collegiate Swin Coaches Association of America) national poll during last season, and finished at No. 20 with an impressive 12-2 record. The women finished 2001-02 at No. 20 in the CSCAA national poll with a 10-2 record.

Last season, the Terrapin women, who finished fourth in the ACC Championships, qualified six swimmers for the NCAA Championships. Shandra Johnson, Megan Knepper, Krisztina Kovacs, Elizabeth Lavell, Inbal Levavi and Jill Martin all competed, with Johnson finishing a team-high fourth in the 200-yard freestyle (1:45.91). Five women also received All-America honors: Johnson, Knepper, Lavell, Levavi and Martin.

Under Wenhold's leadership, several Terrapin athletes have flourished in the postseason. Johnson (100 free, 200 free, 500 free), Martin (200 breast) and the 400-yard medley relay team of Knepper, Martin, Barbara Sumrall and Johnson won ACC Championships last season. Johnson, Knepper, Lavell, Levavi, Martin and Sumrall all earned All-ACC honors, as well, and Johnson was named the Most Valuable Swimmer of the conference meet.

The men's team, meanwhile, has compiled a 60-49 record since Wenhold took over the program. In the past seven years, the Terps' record stands at 40-34.

Wenhold graduated magna cum laude from Maryland in 1985 with a degree in physical education. He was the captain of the swim team his junior and senior years and held school records in the 100- and 200-yard backstroke as well as the 100-yard freestyle.

In 1987, Wenhold received his master's degree in sports management from Maryland. During that time he was a student assistant coach for the Terps in the sprint events.

One year later, Wenhold became a full-time faculty member in the department of kinesiology. While teaching at Maryland, he coached the Retriever Aquatic Club from 1988-91. In 1991, Wenhold returned to coaching the sprinters at Maryland. In 1993, he was elevated to head coach.

Wenhold is married to former Maryland swimming standout Amy Dilweg. The couple has two children, Jaimy (4 years old) and Amanda (1 year old).

Mark MURRAY

Assistant Coach
Sixth Season at Maryland
Virginia Commonwealth '88

Mark Murray is in his sixth season as the full-time assistant coach at Maryland. Murray came to Maryland from Salem-Teikyo University (W.Va.), where he was the head coach from 1994-1997.

As one of the best recruiters in the country Murray was selected to be Salem-Teikyo's first head coach in 1994. During his first year at the helm, both the men's and women's teams went 1-9. By the time Murray was ready to depart for Maryland three years later, both teams were compiling 10-1 records. At the 1998 NCAA Division II Championships, Salem-Teikyo's men's team finished fourth, while the women's team finished 14th. Murray coached student-athletes at Salem-Teikyo to six national titles at the 1998 NCAA Division II Championships, and watched one of his swimmers be honored as the men's NCAA Division II Swimmer of the Year.

While at Salem-Teikyo, Murray's success did not go without notice. In 1996 and 1998, he was named the WVIAC (West Virginia Intercollegiate Athletic Conference) Coach of the Year.

Murray earned his bachelor's degree in political science from Virginia Commonwealth University in 1988. He was a four-year varsity letterwinner and a two-year team captain on the Rams' swimming and diving team. In 1991, Murray earned his master's degree, also from Virginia Commonwealth, in sports management.

Mike TOBER

Diving Coach
First Season at Maryland
NC State '78

Mike Tober is in his first season as diving coach for both the men's and women's teams at Maryland. Tober returns to College Park after a 10-year hiatus; he coached the Terrapin divers from 1982-93. During that time, he was also the head coach of the Montgomery Dive Club.

Tober joined the University of Miami in 1993, and served as assistant diving coach there for three years. He most recently served as the diving coach for four years at Indian River Community College in Ft. Pierce, Fla.

Tober was a USA National Team Coach in 1995-96 and PDCA All-America Coach from 1990-92. He was named NJCAA Diving Coach of the Year in 1999-00 while at Indian River.

A diver at N.C. State, Tober was a five-time ACC champion, an NCAA All-American and a member of the USA National Dive Team. He also was a gold-medalist on the 3-meter and 10-meter platform at the Maccabiah Games.

Tober graduated from NC State in 1978 with a degree in communications.

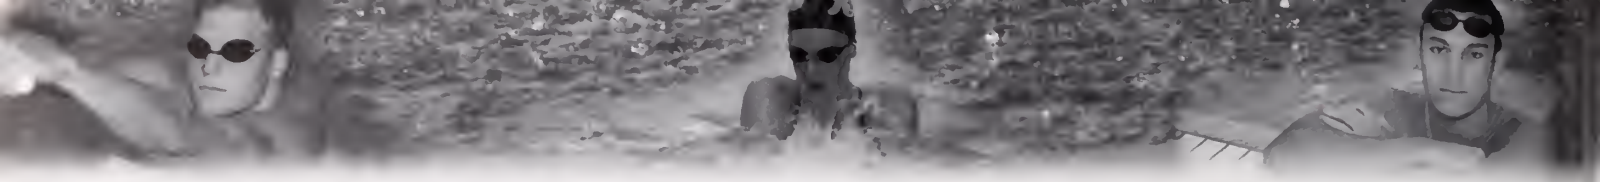
Christy GARTH-BLAZER

Assistant Coach
Second Season at Maryland
North Carolina '96

Christy Garth-Blazer is in her second season as an assistant coach at Maryland. She comes to Maryland after serving as the interim women's assistant coach at the University of Michigan during the 2000-01 season.

Garth-Blazer coached the North Carolina Aquatic Club in 1996 and the swim team at Schroeder YMCA in Milwaukee, Wisc., in 2000. She also swam and qualified for the Olympic Trials in 2000.

Garth-Blazer is a graduate of the University of North Carolina, where she swam from 1992 to 1996.



2003-04 Maryland Swimming & Diving

2003-04 WOMEN'S SEASON PREVIEW

Elizabeth Lavell

With four returning NCAA qualifiers and three returning All-Americans, the women's swimming and diving team is poised to build on last season's 12-2 record and fourth-place finish at the ACC Championships.

"We have a great returning group, and we probably have the strongest incoming class of freshmen and transfers that we've ever had in Maryland history," said head coach "Jim Wenhold. "All in all, we have great potential, but the team is very young. A lot of our success is going to depend on the upperclassmen providing leadership."

Those upperclassmen include juniors Elizabeth Lavell and Megan Knepper, who both competed in the NCAA Championships and earned All-ACC and honorable mention All-America honors.

Last season, Lavell broke the school records in the 1000- and 1650-yard freestyle, and she was also a part of the 800-yard medley relay team that set the school record. She qualified for the NCAA's in four events, finishing as high as 13th in the 1650-yard freestyle. She also had three top-10 finishes at the conference championship.

Knepper set the school record in the 100-yard backstroke last season, and she was part of three relay teams that broke school records. She competed in three events at the national championships, finishing as high as 15th.

Sophomores Inbal Levavi and Krisztina Kovacs also qualified for the NCAA meet last season, and Wenhold expects similar accomplishments this year. As a freshman, Levavi earned All-ACC and honorable mention All-America honors, and she broke school records in the 200-yard backstroke, the 200-yard individual medley and the 800-yard freestyle relay. Kovacs had two top-10 finishes at the ACC meet and finished as high as 22nd at NCAAs. Wenhold also expects a strong season from junior Marina Mulyayeva, who just missed qualifying last season.

The deep incoming class includes freshmen Amanda Burke, Gigi deToll, Orsi Ferenczy and Amber Walter and Kentucky transfer Chrissy Miller, all of whom Wenhold believes have the potential to qualify for the NCAA Championships.

The Terps concluded last season ranked 20th in the nation by CSCAA, and ranked as high as 16th during the season. The women broke 13 of 18 school records, sent six swimmers to the national championships and had five All-Americans. They tied for 22nd at the NCAA meet, the highest finish in team history. "Last season was a great season with some pretty strong accomplishments," Wenhold said. "It was a successful year, but we plan on building on that this upcoming year."

Wenhold said that on paper, North Carolina and Virginia appear to be the toughest dual meets on the schedule. Virginia won the conference crown last season, with North Carolina, which had won the previous three titles, came in second. "We've got a strong schedule," he said. "But our biggest focus is going to be on doing well at the ACC Championships, and getting people to the NCAA Championships and scoring points there."

The regular season begins Oct. 18 at conference rival N.C. State and concludes Feb. 7 against Virginia. The ACC Championships are Feb. 18 to 21, with the NCAA meet one month later, March 18 to 20.

With such strong returning nucleus and the solid incoming class, Wenhold is eager to find out what this season brings. "I just think it's a great group, and the potential is very exciting," he said.

2003-04 Maryland Swimming & Diving

2002-03 SEASON REVIEW

The University of Maryland women's swimming and diving team (12-2, 4-2 ACC) concluded one of the most successful seasons in program history, finishing the year with record-breaking performances at both the conference and national championships, the second-best winning percentage in school history (.857), their highest national ranking (No. 15) and five swimmers that earned All-America honors.

Head coach Jim Wenhold, already the all-time winningest women's coach in school history, boosted his all-time winning record to 87-26 (.769) in 2002-03. Wenhold predicted his team would have a banner season, calling his recruiting class the strongest ever to enter Maryland. His predictions proved to be correct from the very first meet of the year.

The Terps started the 2002-03 season on a winning tear, earning victories over their first 11 opponents, including key wins over ACC foes NC State, Clemson and Duke.

In the team's 159-82 victory over NC State, the first meet of the season, senior Shandra Johnson won both the 100-yard freestyle (51.25) and the 200-yard freestyle (1:51.28). Johnson had not swam competitively in over three years because of several back surgeries, and her solid performance in her first meet back ended up being a sign of good things to come.

At the Terrapin Cup Invitational, held in College Park in November, the women's team finished first at the seven-team tournament. A highlight of the weekend was Elizabeth Lavell's victory in the 1650-yard freestyle (16:18.25). Lavell, who holds no less than five school records in the 200-IM, 400-IM, 500-free, 1000-free and 1650-free, bested her previous record of 16:23.47 in the mile swim by more than five seconds.

After the Invitational, Maryland was given their highest-ever national ranking by the CSCAA, No. 15. They held this ranking until two losses late in the season to then No. 11 North Carolina and No. 13 Virginia.

Despite dropping their last two conference meets, the Terps had the opportunity to swim in the Koury Natatorium in Chapel Hill, the site of the 2003 ACC Championships. This experience in the pool paid off, and the team had a stellar showing at the conference championships.

Maryland finished fourth at the ACC's with 538 points, their highest point-total ever.

Johnson had a tremendous weekend for the Terps, winning three individual ACC championships. She was named the Most Valuable Swimmer of the meet, the first time a Terrapin has earned the honor.

Senior Jill Martin also earned an ACC title, winning the 200-yard breaststroke in a time of 2:12.56, a new school record.

Maryland's success did not end at the conference championships, however. A school-record six swimmers qualified to compete at the NCAA Championships in Auburn, Ala. Johnson, Martin, Lavell, sophomore Megan Knepper and freshmen Krisztina Kovacs and Inbal Levavi all represented Maryland at the national championships.

The team finished the weekend in 22nd place with 40 points, the best finish by a Maryland team in school history, and five swimmers earned either All-America or honorable mention All-America honors at the three-day event.

Johnson, Maryland's top individual finisher in Auburn, earned her 10th career All-America honor with a fourth-place finish in the 200-yard freestyle (1:45.91). She became the first Terp female swimmer since 1989 to garner an All-America award, and her time was a new school record.

Johnson broke another school record with her performance in the 100-yard freestyle with a time of 49.55, good for 11th place and honorable mention All-America in the event. She also finished 12th in the 500-yard freestyle (4:45.20), also an honorable mention All-America performance. Johnson finished her career as arguably the best female swimmer in Maryland's history and her three impressive swims led the Terps to their historical finish.

Martin also had the most successful national championship of her career, earning honorable mention All-America in both the 100- and 200-yard breaststroke. She broke her own school record in the 100-breast, finishing 15th with a time of 1:01.87. She finished 13th in the 200-breast with a time of 2:13.33, the highest finish at the NCAA's of Martin's career.

Lavell ended the year with an honorable mention All-America finish in the 1650-yard freestyle (16:24.59), good for 13th place. In the first two days of competition, Lavell finished 24th in the 500-yard freestyle (4:48.17) and 49th in the 200-yard freestyle (1:50.51).

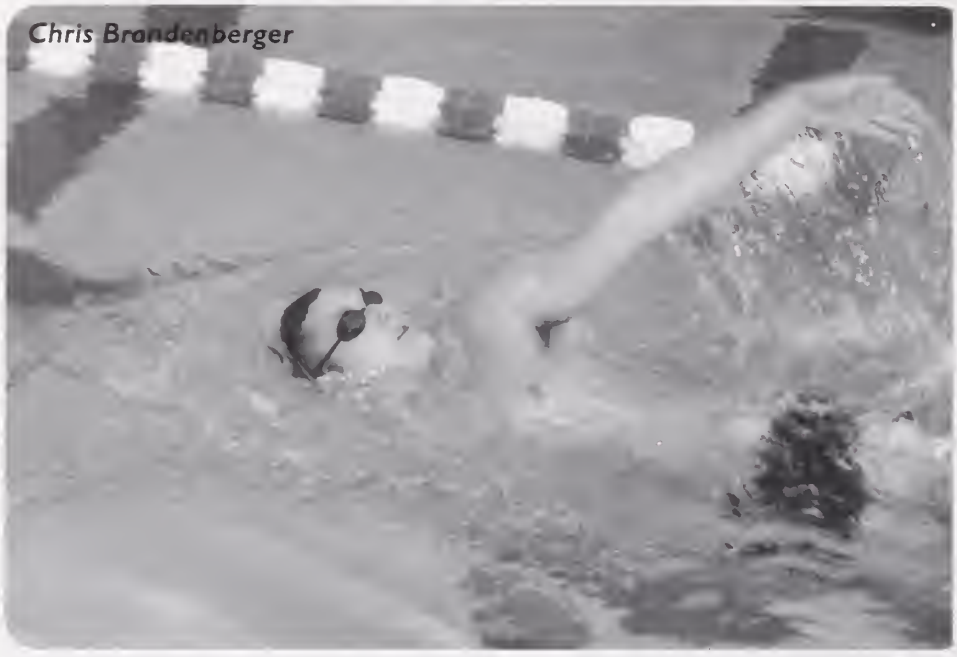
2003-04 MEN'S SEASON PREVIEW



Chris Brandenberger

The men's swimming and diving team begins the 2003-04 season ready to place some swimmers at the NCAA Championships. With several returning finalists from the ACC meet, head coach Jim Wenhold hopes the team can improve upon last year's 4-7 record and seventh place finish at the conference meet.

Having lost only three seniors to graduation, the men return a strong nucleus of upperclassmen, including senior Mark Hill and juniors Erik Weinberg, Chris Brandenberger and Brad Schertle.

In his first season with the Terps after transferring from Arizona State, Hill set school records in both sprint freestyle events and earned All-ACC honors. He finished second in the 100-yard freestyle and third in the 50-yard freestyle in the conference meet, and just missed qualifying for the NCAA Championships.

Like Hill, Weinberg also earned an all-conference nod and narrowly missed the NCAA's. Weinberg finished second in the 200-yard backstroke and third in the 100-yard backstroke at the ACC Championships, breaking the school records in both events in the process.

"Chris Brandenberger is coming off a strong sophomore year in which he was a finalist at the ACC Championships in the 200 backstroke," Wenhold said. "He has the potential to qualify for the NCAA Championships this year."

Schertle, voted the team captain by his teammates, is the top returning distance freestyler. He placed 20th in the 500-yard freestyle and 21st in the 1650-yard freestyle at the conference meet.

Wenhold will also rely on a strong freshmen class. "Kevin Fisher should help fill some vacant spots that we had in the fly events, and he should also supply some real support in the middle distance freestyle," he said. "We look for good things from "Chris Tappis in the middle distance freestyle events. Ryan Shore should add depth to a real strong backstroke core and should have the ability to score well in the ACC."

Wenhold said he also expects high achievements from freshman Kevin Ford. "We have a young group, but we do have a strong group of incoming freshmen," he said. "If they can adjust to collegiate swimming and the level at which they need to compete, we should have a successful year."

The men's season begins Oct. 18 at ACC rival N.C. State. The regular season concludes against reigning conference champion Virginia, with the ACC Championships Feb. 25 to 28 in Charlottesville, Va. The NCAA meet is one month later, March 25-28.

2003-04 Maryland Swimming & Diving

2002-03 SEASON REVIEW

The University of Maryland men's swimming and diving team (4-7, 1-5 ACC) had a year marked by great individual swims and mixed team results. The Terps earned four victories for the second year in a row, including key wins over conference opponent Duke, Johns Hopkins, Howard and Villanova.

Maryland began the season with 18 of the 26 team members being either freshmen or sophomores, but the young roster mixed with key senior leadership combined for success throughout the year.

The Terps notched their first victories of 2002-03 at home against Johns Hopkins, 113-40, and Howard, 119-31. Sophomore Chris Brandenberger captured a victory in the 400-yard IM (4:15.84), sophomore Dan Fallon won the 500-yard freestyle (4:43.89) and junior diver Steven Vigilante won the 1-meter board competition with a score of 268.57. The Terps also swept all of the relay events at the meet, coming in first in all six.

The squad hosted the Terrapin Cup Invitational in November, and finished first with a total of 968 points. Sophomore Erik Weinberg had two strong swims, breaking the school record in the 200-yard backstroke (1:46.68) and winning the 100-yard backstroke (49.89).

Junior transfer Mark Hill won multiple events at the Invitational, with victories in the 50-yard freestyle (20.33) and the 100-yard freestyle (44.87). Hill, who lettered in two seasons at Arizona State before coming to Maryland, was consistently the team's top freestyle sprinter throughout the Terps' season.

Other winners for the Terps at the Invitational were sophomore Gergo Szekely in the 200-yard breaststroke (2:06.13) and the relay team of senior Brian Luoma, sophomore Mike Fried, Weinberg and Hill. They finished first in the 400-yard freestyle relay with a time of 3:02.22

The Terrapins were competitive in their first meet of the new year, Jan. 17, against then No. 18 Pittsburgh. Weinberg broke his own school record in the 200-yard backstroke (1:46.58) en route to a victory in the event. Sophomore Brad Schertle on the 1000-yard freestyle (9:20.56) and Vigilante came up with a win on the 3-meter diving board (318.82) against the Panthers.

The team got their first ACC victory against the Duke Blue Devils in Durham, N.C., on Jan. 31. The Terrapins won 156-78 and had five individual winners at that meet. Schertle dominated in the distance events, winning both the 500-free (4:45.57) and the 1000-free (9:48.58). Other winners included Weinberg in the 100-yard backstroke (51.88), Fried in the 50-yard freestyle (21.44) and Hill in the 100-yard freestyle (46.77). Against Duke, the team also won both diving events with strong performances from Vigilante and senior Chris Roddy. Roddy came away with a victory on the 3-meter board with a score of 302.23 points, and Vigilante won 1-meter board with a score of 273.23.

Despite losing to North Carolina on Feb. 1, the Terps got a chance to swim in the Koury Natatorium, site of the 2003 ACC Championships. This experience in the pool helped them turn in some strong swims at the conference meet.

Hill and Weinberg were the team's top individual performers at the ACC's. Hill finished in second-place in the 200-yard freestyle (44.20), and garnered third-place honors in the 50-yard freestyle (20.14).

Weinberg grabbed second-place honors in the 200-yard backstroke (1:45.29) and finished third in the 100-yard backstroke (49.11). The Terrapins finished seventh at the meet with 240 points.

Hill and Weinberg will return next season, and the recruiting class head coach Jim Wenhold will bring to program combined with the returning veterans of the team plan to build on the successes of 2002-03.

"STRIVE FOR CLARITY, BUT ACCEPT AND UNDERSTAND AMBIGUITY."

That phrase captures one way in which an educated person approaches the world and its challenges. Students who graduate from the University of Maryland have been exposed to the tools that allow them to put that perspective to work. Imparting such a perspective may be an ambitious project for undergraduate education, but to aim for anything less would be unworthy of a great university's goals for its students. Thirteen years ago, Promises to Keep, a plan for undergraduate education at Maryland, articulated those goals so eloquently we repeat them here.

Undergraduate education at Maryland "aims to provide students with a sense of identity and purpose, a concern for others, a sense of responsibility for the quality of life around them, a continuing eagerness for knowledge and understanding, and a foundation for a lifetime of personal enrichment."

As we learn with and from one another, we try to "develop human values," "celebrate tolerance and fairness," "contribute to the social conscience," "monitor and assess private and collective assumptions," and "recognize the glory, tragedy and humor of the human condition." Your years at the University of Maryland can provide you with all the tools you need to accomplish these goals. Students here are "educated to be able to read with perception and pleasure, write and speak with clarity and verve, handle numbers and computation proficiently, reason mathematically, generate clear questions and find probable arguments, reach substantiated conclusions and accept ambiguity."

And we also hope you enjoy the journey.

University of MARYLAND

The Campus

By virtually every measure of quality, the University of Maryland has gained national recognition as one of the fastest-rising comprehensive research institutions in the country. The momentum of recent years has poised the university to move it into the top ranks of higher education and take leadership in shaping the research university of the 21st century.

The university has enjoyed a decade of momentum in all of the areas that affect quality. The average high school GPA of entering students has zoomed from 3.01 to nearly 3.90, and the average SATs are now more than 1270. The student body is a model of diversity, with minorities making up more than 32 percent of all students, and at least one graduate and undergraduate student from every state in the nation.

The university has 67 graduate and undergraduate programs ranked in the Top 25 by U.S. News and World Report, up from just one program in 1991.

Sponsored research and outreach has nearly tripled in the same 10-year period, exceeding $350 million last year. Private giving also has increased, and the university last year concluded its first campaign by topping its $350 million goal by more than $100 million. Alumni Association membership has been growing at an average rate of 10 percent a year since 1992.

One of the largest research universities in the United States, Fall 2002 enrollment was 25,240 undergraduate and 9,561 graduate students. There are 94 undergraduate programs, 89 master's programs, 70 doctoral programs and one first professional degree program. More than 100 centers and institutes are engaged in research and outreach.

Faculty at the University of Maryland, in all fields of knowledge, are engaged at the highest levels of national and international concern. The university's location near the center of federal policy-making and international political and economic activity enables it to play an active role in research and analysis of public policy.

Maryland is one of 30 public universities in the prestigious 63-member Association of American Universities and the only public institution in the Maryland-D.C. area with membership in the nation's most distinguished honor society, Phi Beta Kappa.

Libraries

Seven libraries make up the University of Maryland library system: McKeldin (main) Library, Architecture Library, Art Library, Engineering and Physical Sciences Library, Hornbake Library, Performing Arts Library and White Memorial (Chemistry) Library.

These libraries constitute the largest university research library institution in the Washington metropolitan area, providing vital resources to researchers, visiting scholars, and businesses throughout the region. The libraries' holdings include more than 2.5 million volumes, 24,000 subscriptions to periodicals and nearly 5 million items available in microfilm format.

Research

Opportunities for conducting research abound at the University of Maryland, College Park, and in the surrounding area, both for faculty to advance their own expertise and bring their insights into the classroom, and for students to begin their exploration of their unique interests with practical experience. On campus, special facilities and a number of organized research centers, bureaus and institutes promote the acquisition and analysis of new knowledge in the arts, sciences and applied fields.

The university's enviable location — just nine miles from downtown Washington, D.C., and approximately 30 miles from both Baltimore and Annapolis — enhances the research of its faculty and students by providing access to some of the finest libraries and research centers in the country.

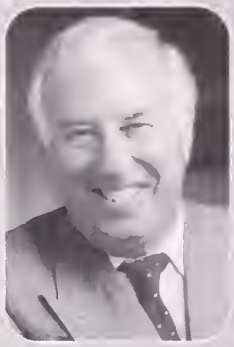
Service

Programs of public service are central to the overall mission of the university. The philosophy is reflected in the wide array of programs and initiatives that benefit the state's business, agriculture and education communities.

With more than 90 high-technology firms in the three-county area of Montgomery, Prince George's and Frederick counties, the university has found abundant opportunity to extend its business and technology outreach programs to the region. Many of these programs are part of the Engineering Research Center, which operates the Technology Advancement Program and the Maryland Industrial Partnerships, programs designed to provide Maryland entrepreneurs and small businesses with research facilities, technical assistance, administrative support and access to technology that will advance their economic base.

The Institute for Systems Research has formed partnerships with major corporations, including Lockheed Martin, Westinghouse, BF Goodrich, Hughes Aircraft and Dupont to apply advanced systems research to solving industry problems in the fields of communications, manufacturing, controls and robotics.

The university last year opened the Clarice Smith Performing Arts Center, with its six state-of-the art performance halls, which has quickly become a center of cultural programming in the Washington metropolitan area. The university also boasts four art galleries and a broad range of public art throughout the beautiful campus. Additionally intercollegiate, club and intramural sports provide students of all levels an opportunity to participate as spectators or athletes.



Dr. C.D. MOTE

University President
California '51
Sixth Year at Maryland

When C. D. "Dan" Mote Jr. became the 19th president of the University of Maryland on Sept. 1, 1998, he proclaimed it a university "on the move." Five years later, under his guidance, Maryland continues to move – at an ever-accelerating rate – on the field, in the classroom, in the community and in the world.

Leading a great university is a big job, but it's a role that Mote is accustomed to, having spent his entire academic career at the University of California at Berkeley, where he earned all his degrees, chaired one of the nation's top-ranked departments of Mechanical Engineering, and eventually became Vice Chancellor for University Relations before coming to Maryland.

The University of Maryland is the State of Maryland's most important asset, says Mote: "The future of the state depends on this university."

As president, Mote is committed to making that asset even greater by nourishing a culture of excellence and civility across the campus, providing the highest quality education for students, strengthening the university's connections with its various stakeholders, building partnerships with State and national corporations and federal agencies and achieving distinction as an institution where discovery takes place every day and everywhere.

The university's progress can be seen in every area, from its nationally-ranked programs to its growing range of partnerships to its world-class, state-of-the-art facilities.

Quality Programs

Over the past decade, the quality of Maryland's programs has grown by leaps and bounds. In 2003, the University of Maryland moved up to 18th place among public universities in U.S. News & World Report rankings, the first time it has broken into the top 20 in its steady climb to distinction. We currently have 49 graduate and undergraduate programs and units ranked in the top 15 by U.S. News & World Report, up from 5 eight years ago.

While our academic successes have spread across the board, the university has emerged as a true powerhouse in business, computer science, earth sciences, engineering, environmental policy, education and journalism. Maryland is one of only 10 public and private universities that have their programs in computer science, mathematics, physics, and engineering each ranked in the top 20, and the Robert H. Smith School of Business is one of 6 nationally ranked in both the top 10 Business Faculty in Teaching and the top 10 Business Faculty in Research.

Faculty Stature

With the addition during Mote's third year of a Nobel Laureate in Physics and three more Pulitzer Prize winners (to join three already on the faculty), Maryland continues to attract the best faculty available. This past year a faculty member was the recipient of the Japan Prize, an award given by the Japanese government in technology that is equivalent to the Nobel prizes. More than 30 of our faculty are members of the national academies, the highest professional recognition attainable.

Experts on the Maryland faculty are regularly sought by the news media for their views on a wide variety of issues, including political events, international affairs, social trends, economics, the environment, science and technology.

Talented Students

Over the past 10 years, it has become a cliché to announce that each year's new freshman class is the most talented ever. The average GPA of entering students in fall 2003 is 3.9, while the average SAT score is nearly 1,300.

Not surprisingly, the number of students enrolling in honors and other special programs has also skyrocketed in recent years. Our extremely popular living-learning programs, which bring together students with similar academic interests in a residential setting, were ranked 3rd in the country in the latest U.S. News & World Report. In the last academic year, over 6,000 students enrolled in such programs as Gemstone, College Park Scholars, and the Hinman CEO Entrepreneurship Program.

Athletic Excellence

Mote sees athletics as an integral part of the university experience. Indeed athletic success more often than not reflects academic success, he notes. For example, all four of the teams that played in the 2002 NCAA basketball Final Four, including Maryland, are members of the prestigious Association of American Universities, the organization that comprises the leading research and academic universities in North America. "That's no accident," Mote says. "Institutions that are committed to excellence tend to be excellent in every endeavor. Our successes in basketball, lacrosse and other sports reflects our culture of quality as much as our successes in engineering, business, education and journalism."

Deborah A. YOW

Director of Athletics
10th Year at Maryland
Ellen '74

Deborah A. Yow is in the tenth year of her outstanding tenure as director of athletics at the University of Maryland, a year that has seen unprecedented success and achievement in Maryland athletics. Each year has brought about continued improvement and accomplishment in Terrapin athletics. In Yow's nine years at Maryland, the Terrapins have won a remarkable nine NCAA national championships as Maryland athletics has soared to new heights.

The comprehensive success of Terrapin athletics under Debbie Yow's leadership is a clear and compelling testimony of her values of excellence, teamwork and accountability.

Likewise, her election to the presidency of the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics three years ago is an indication of the wide respect with which she is regarded among its 6,100 members representing 1,600 colleges in the U.S. and Canada. She was recently singled out by Street and Smith Sports Business Journal as one of the leading administrators in the U.S. and she received the Carl Maddox Sport Management Award presented by the United States Sports Academy for excellence in athletics administration. Yow was selected to serve on the U.S. Department of Education's Commission on Opportunities in Athletics to review the status of Federal Title IX regulations, as well as the chair of the Atlantic Coast Conference Committee on Television for the 2003-04 academic year. The committee, comprised of the ACC's athletics directors, is charged with overseeing the league's TV contracts and dealing with issues related to television. Additionally, in May, she was chosen as one of three recipients of the 2003 Women of the Year award by Women in Sports and Events.

Yow, who recently served on the NCAA Management Council and the NCAA Division I Budget Committee, is a strong and steady voice on behalf of intercollegiate athletics in America. Since taking over as AD at Maryland in 1994, she and her staff have:

- Transformed Terrapin athletics into a responsible, goal-oriented organization.
- Balanced all nine of the annual department's budgets (the first balanced budget in the 10 years prior to her arrival). The budget has now reached $42 million annually and the sizable prior accumulated operating debts have been eradicated.
- Greatly enhanced the academic support services provided for student-athletes, with an enviable exhausted eligibility graduation rate of approximately 85 percent.
- Led the Terrapins to a national all-sports ranking in the upper 15 percent of all NCAA Division I institutions.
- Significantly expanded marketing and fund-raising efforts on behalf of Terrapin athletics. As a result, private gifts to athletics have increased 240 percent and corporate sponsorship revenues have increased by 275 percent during her tenure at Maryland.
- Continued to dramatically improve venues and facilities for the department's 25 teams.
- Implemented a strategic management model.
- Developed a comprehensive Internet strategy with management, marketing and fund-raising applications.
- Significantly improved customer care in every area.

The most recent achievements of Maryland athletics are exceptional:

- Selected recently by U.S. News & World Report as one of the Top 20 athletic programs in the nation (for overall quality and competitive excellence).
- In football, won the 2002 Atlantic Coast Conference championship and played in the 2002 Orange Bowl and followed this with an 11-win season and a 30-3 victory over the University of Tennessee in the Peach Bowl in December. In men's basketball, the Terps advanced to the Sweet 16 in the NCAA Tournament following its second consecutive Final Four and the National Championship in 2002. The Terps are among only a few NCAA institutions to have achieved this level in both these revenue sports in the same year.

Additionally, Maryland is one of only five universities to win a National Championship in both basketball and football (UCLA, Michigan, Michigan State, Ohio State and Maryland).

- Hired the Associated Press National Coach of the Year, Brenda Frese, as the new women's basketball coach.
- Hired Dave Cottle, the third-winningest active men's lacrosse coach in the U.S.
- Field Hockey played for the National Championship in 2001.
- Women's Lacrosse has continued its winning ways and has won seven consecutive national championships through 2001.
- Enhancing football facilities significantly with Team House and practice field upgrades.
- Moved into the new $125 million Comcast Center
- The athletics budget was balanced for the ninth consecutive year.
- In 2002-03, 10 Maryland teams competed in NCAA postseason play.
- The productivity, morale, and the competitive and academic achievement of Terrapin athletics are exceptional and continue to gain momentum.

Regarding the many achievements of Terrapin athletics over the past nine years, Yow says, "We are pleased, but we are not satisfied... our vision is to be one of the top 10 programs in the nation consistently... we see no reason to settle for less."

Yow is known for her goal-oriented and proactive management style. She consistently inspires and challenges those around her to "raise our sights and sharpen our tools... to work hard and smart...to recognize that our only limitations are those that we place upon ourselves."

As a manager and a leader, she clearly models these principles. She is the only known current AD in NCAA Division I who has hired both the National Coach of the Year in football (while at Maryland) and the National Coach of the Year in men's basketball (while at Saint Louis University). Yow is known as "a coach's AD," while also be highly organized, strategic and proactive leader and administrator. Quite simply, Debbie Yow personifies the relational and management dynamics that are necessary to be an excellent administrator.

A successful former coach at the University of Kentucky and University of Florida, she moved into athletics administration at the University of Florida and the University of North Carolina, Greensboro, followed by a successful tenure as AD at Saint Louis University.

She has authored numerous articles and books on athletics management and human behavior, and is a respected leader in intercollegiate athletics in the United States.

Summing up the entire athletics program, our athletics director recently stated, "We have the finest student-athletes, coaches, support staff and administrative team in America. It is because of their courage, hard work and cooperative spirit that we now have a strong, viable athletic program. I am immensely proud of each of them. I am equally proud of our Terrapin fans who buy tickets, our Terrapin Club members who faithfully support the Maryland athletic program with their donations for scholarships, and the M Club members who serve and give liberally. We are also blessed with a terrific President Dr. Dan Mote, who has fostered a mindset of excellence across our institution. he is a strong and balanced advocate for what he calls 'the three A's of the University — Academics, the Arts and Athletics'. We have a great Terrapin family. That's the foundation for all of our success... and the basis for our bright future. It's a great time to be a Terp."

Yow on stage with head coach Ralph Friedgen after the Terps won the 2002 Chick-fil-A Peach Bowl.

Academic Support & CAREER DEVELOPMENT

The University of Maryland is committed to providing the highest quality education to all of its students. The Department of Intercollegiate Athletics strives to provide student-athletes excellent opportunities to participate in an intercollegiate athletics program of the highest quality, with the result that their athletics participation becomes an integral and valued component of their total educational experience at the university.

Terrapin student-athletes will find that the same hard work and discipline that has earned them success in athletics competition is also required in the classroom. Balancing the significant time demands and responsibilities required to be a successful student-athlete at the highest collegiate level is no small task. Therefore, as a result of their commitment to representing the university through athletics, Terrapin student-athletes are able to utilize support programs designed to meet their specific needs.

Led by interim associate athletics director Val Sheley, the mission of the Academic Support and Career Development Unit (ASCDU) is to provide quality developmental programs and need-based services that will enhance academic progress, facilitate career development, and encourage the psychosocial growth of all UM student-athletes. Ellen Henderson (above) works with the swimming and diving team.

The Gossett Academic Support and Career Development Center for Terrapin student-athletes, named for long-time Terp supporters Barry and Mary Gossett, is located in the Comcast Center. It features a study center that includes 25 desktop computers, a tutoring center, a classroom, a CHAMPS/Life Skills resource room and individual offices for six professional academic counselors, a director of enrichment programs, an assistant program coordinator and two graduate assistants. In addition, a new academic wing was added to the Gossett football team house last Fall. It features offices for two counselors, a program assistant and the learning specialist; as well as a quiet study area, 29-desk computer lab, classroom, tutor rooms and classroom/lab for the individualized learning program.

Academic courses, programs and services offered by ASCDU include the following:

- Student-athlete orientation
- Academic counseling
- NCAA academic eligibility monitoring
- Academic enrichment and career development presentations and workshops
- Accredited tutorial support
- Individualized learning program
- EDCP 108-K (College learning strategies and skills)
- EDCP 108-M (Math learning strategies and skills)
- UNIV 100 (First-year transitions to the university)

Career Networking Night

Because career development is an ongoing process, ASCDU provides a variety of programs for student-athletes throughout the year. Professional assistance with resume- writing, interviewing skills, graduate school search and job search is readily available to all student-athletes. During the spring semester ASCDU hosts the Career Networking Night, where student-athletes can learn about career interests and career planning. Unlike typical "job fairs," the purpose of this program is to allow student-athletes to explore multiple career opportunities by speaking directly to individuals in their chosen areas of interest. Employers at the Career Networking Night recognize the marketable qualities student-athletes have gained through athletic participation. Student-athletes learn about opportunities for internships and full-time jobs.

Student-Athlete Advisory Council

The Student-Athlete Advisory Council (S.A.A.C.) plays an important role in the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics. It consists of two representatives from each varsity sport and meets on a regular basis with representatives from the athletic administration. The S.A.A.C. mission is to enhance the total student-athlete experience by developing leadership skills, promoting student-athlete welfare and fostering a positive student-athlete image on the Maryland campus, local area and nationally.

CHAMPS/Life Skills Programs

ASCDU houses the NCAA's (National Collegiate Athletic Association) Challenging Athletes' Minds for Personal Success (C.H.A.M.P.S.) Life Skills Program. The ASCDU staff, in collaboration with various other Department of Intercollegiate Athletics' units and campus resources, strives to provide a systematic personal development program designed to reach each student-athlete based on his or her individual needs. The focus of the program is on the individual academically, athletically and emotionally, and on the changing needs and skills of that individual in the years during college and after graduation. The menu of presentations, workshops and seminars is a comprehensive and balanced system of "life learning" programs promoted for use by each varsity sport team.

Highlights of the CHAMPS/Life Skills Programs:

- Support efforts of every student-athlete toward intellectual development and graduation
- Use athletics as preparation for success in life
- Meet the changing needs of student-athletes
- Promote respect for diversity among student-athletes
- Enhance interpersonal relationships in the lives of student-athletes
- Assist student-athletes in building positive self-esteem
- Enable student-athletes to make meaningful contributions to their communities
- Promote ownership by the student-athletes of their academic, athletic, personal and social responsibilities
- Enhance partnerships between the NCAA, member institutions and their communities for the purpose of education
- Encourage the development of leadership skills

Strength & CONDITIONING

Collegiate swimming and divign has evolved to the point where total physical preparation is necessary to successfully compete on the Division I level. It has become extremely important to strength and conditioning coach Rick Sneade that all of the Terrapin athletes are prepared through training to maximize their athletic development in terms of strength and conditioning. The high level of dedication by the members of the swimming and diving teams have brought about spectacular achievements in the weight room and in competition.

The objective of the strength and conditioning program for soccer is based on the enhancement of performance as well as the prevention of injuries. Sneade makes every attempt to accommodate the different training needs of each individual athlete.

The preparation of a student-athlete to compete in swimming and diving goes beyond strength and power training in the weight room. Speed improvement, flexibility, plyometrics, nutrition, agility and conditioning are also important ingredients in the preparation of the swimming and diving teams here at Maryland. The strength and conditioning staff puts a great emphasis on improving the quickness of the Terps through increased mechanical efficiency and the improvement of acceleration of maximum velocity.

Campus Recreation CENTER NATATORIUM

Opened on Jan. 31, 1998, the Campus Recreation Center Natatorium at the University of Maryland is one of the premier swimming and diving venues in the country. Featured in such national publications as Swimming Technique and International Aquatics magazines, the Campus Recreation Center Natatorium not only benefits the Maryland swimming and diving teams, but also the University of Maryland community itself.

The Campus Recreation Center Natatorium was part of the $40 million Campus Recreation Center. It features one 50x25-yard pool with two movable bulkheads and an underwater sound system. There are two one-meter diving boards and two three-meter diving platforms. The natatorium pool holds more than 1.5 million gallons of water.

With seating for more than 1,000 spectators, the Campus Recreation Center Natatorium has and will play host to such national and regional events as the 1999 and 2002 ACC Championships and the YMCA Nationals in the summer of 1999, 2000, 2001, 2002 and 2003. The 1999 and 2000 FINA World Cups were held at the Campus Recreation Center Natatorium, making it the focus of national and international attention during the championships.

In addition to the natatorium, the Campus Recreation Center also has fitness and weight-lifting equipment, indoor basketball and volleyball courts, and an indoor track. A large outdoor pool complements the Campus Recreation Center and Natatorium, finishing a facility that is one of a kind and can only be found at the University of Maryland.

Media INFORMATION

Media Guidelines

Credentials: Media and photographer credentials for events at Maryland's Campus Recreation Natatorium Center may be obtained by working press, radio and television by writing or calling Jessica Bernheim in the Maryland Athletic Media Relations Office, 2725 Comcast Center, College Park, MD 20741-0295. All requests should be submitted at least 48 hours prior to the event by phoning the Media Relations Office at (301) 314-1483. Since space is limited, accommodations are on a priority basis: daily newspapers and wire services, originating radio and television stations, national weekly or monthly publications, electronic media outlets, local and regional television crews. Priority is granted to members of the media who cover Maryland athletics on a regular basis, and to visiting media members. Photo passes will be issued only to accredited photographers on assignment.
